

Birch Aquarium/San Diego Port- Bay and You Summer Program (BAYS)

January 2012 Report

Birch education staff initiated the Activity Research and Development stage of program, which included;

- background research,
- collecting of information and collateral resources,
- initial development of station outlines,
- experimentation with station materials/models, and
- brief trial run of one discovery station, Adaptation.

Work will continue as station outlines are further developed, trialed and modified. Materials/supplies for the stations will be purchased and/or fabricated during the course of design and trial with the public.

Testing of early design for Adaptation station. Table size is smaller than what will be used during the actual implementation of BAYS stations.

Trial ran for 2 hours during the week of Dec. 26, 2011. Guests engaged and showed enthusiasm for activities.

Beaks comparison activity. Signage/guiding instructions will be in English and Spanish.
